What is the cost associated with the program?

The program cost is $20 per credit hour for students.

When does the program begin?

The program will launch in Summer 2024.

How do I take advantage of this cost savings?

Students just need to register for classes as normal and the remainder will automatically be taken care of!

What course materials are included in the program?

All instructor-required course materials for the courses in which you are enrolled are included in the program. This includes digital and physical textbooks, online access codes, other digital materials, consumables, lab supplies, etc.

How will I receive my materials?

Physical textbooks for residential students will be shipped directly to the Registrar's Office, Room 153 Notre Dame Hall and ready for pickup before the first day of class. Digital materials will be automatically delivered through Canvas. For students not living on campus, physical textbooks will be shipped to the student's verified home address.

Do I get to keep physical or digital materials?

Certain textbooks will be identified as books for students to "keep"; these textbooks will vary by major/program. Otherwise, physical books that are not consumables must be returned at the semester's end. Digital content will typically last 6 months or until the course closes in Canvas.

How will I be billed?

There will be a line item on the student bill.

What happens if I add or drop a course?

The system will automatically be notified of any add/drop changes within 24 hours. Newly required course materials are shipped daily or delivered digitally in Canvas.
