☐ I do not recommend this site for future students.

Explain your statement.

I started interning at this site mid-semester in the fall of my internship experience. The supervisor was very accommodating and understanding of this situation. One of the first things she said to me was "I'm never going to make you do something you feel uncomfortable with," which I appreciated. The site was going through a big transition when I started (new supervisor who is my supervisor & will be for future interns - she is the program director) which caused the whole program to be re-conceptualized. I think now, it is headed in the right direction & for future interns will be a solid program. Struggles I have had in my internship experience were completely related to staff time/order & drama over the new program structure. Now those issues are smoothed out.

This site offers lots of direct client time, experience with kids/adolescents with trauma & behavior issues, their families, opportunities to plan your own groups, conduct individual therapy & family sessions, a supportive staff & supervisor who gives you the support & time you need. It is a positive atmosphere & a great place to intern. Honestly, it is very active & at times physically & mentally demanding. Being day treatment, you see clients most of the day in some capacity, which can be exhausting. Having good self-care in place helps a lot, as does the staff support.
